INDEX OF AUTHORS TO VOLUME X.

AGNEW, C. R. and WEBSTER, DAVID. Clinical Contributions to Otology 335

I.—Binaural deafness, probably due to simultaneous exudations into both labyrinths.

II—Wound of the Mt by an oak stub.

III.—Double rupture of the Mt from a blow.

IV.—Supposed foreign body in the tympanum.

AYRES, S. C. Exostoses of the External Auditory Canal . . 327

BERTHOLD, E. Experimental Investigations as to the Influence of the Nerves of the Drum Cavity upon the Vascularization and Secretion of its Mucous Membrane 184

BLAKE, CLARENCE J. Supplementary Note to the Report of the Meeting of the American Otological Society. Selection of Test Words According to their Logographic Value . . 289

BOBONE, T. Special Report of the Contributions to Otology in Italy in the Year 1880. . . . 176

BRUNNER, G. Minor Otological Contributions 244

BURNETT, SWAN M. Otomyces Purpureus (Wreden) in the Human Ear. 319

——— Quarterly Abstract of American Otological Literature 70,164, 374

——— Abstract of the Papers on Otology Read before the Am. Med. Ass. in 1881 . . . 162

CARPENTER, WESLEY M. The American Otological Society. Report of the Meeting of 1881. 266

CORE, A. S. Application of Cotton Pellets in Destruction of the Membrana Tympani; Two Cases 117

ELY, EDWARD T. An Operation for Prominence of the Auricles. (With two wood-cuts.) . . . 97

——— Pyæmia following a Mastoid Abscess; Treated without Medicine; Recovery. . . . 42

FRÄNKEL, EUGENE. Anatomical and Clinical Contributions to the Knowledge of the Diseases of the Naso-Pharyngeal Region and the Ear in Consumption . 100

HACKLEY, CHARLES E. The Inhalation of Chloroform a Cause of Aural Disease. . . 202

HARTMANN, ARTHUR. Epistaxis, Plugging of the Nares, and their Relations to Affections of the Organ of Hearing 149

HARTMANN, STEINBRÜGGE, WOLF. Report on the Progress of Otology in the Third Quarter of the Year 1880 . . 75

I.—Normal and pathological anatomy of the organ of hearing. H. Steinbrügge.

II.—Physiology of the ear and physiological acoustics. Oscar Wolf.

III.—Pathology and therapeutics of the ear. A. Hartmann.

——— For the Fourth Quarter of the Year 1880 165

——— For the First Half of the Year 1881 . . . . . 278, 377

HEDINGER, A. On a Peculiar Exostosis in the Ear. (With plate ii, figs. 1 and 2.) . . . 47

KIPP, CHARLES J. A Case of Epithelioma of the Middle Ear 206

KNAPP, H. The Cotton Pellet as an Artificial Drum-Head . 60

——— Bilateral Rudimentary Auricle with Absence of the External Auditory Canal . . 119

——— Trephining of Mastoid in a Case of Otitis Catarrhalis Chronica, with an Intact Membrana Tympani; Opening of the Lateral Sinus; Healing by First Intention 365

——— Report of the Section for Diseases of the Ear at the International Medical Congress Held in London, 1881 294

LOEWENBERG, B. Investigations Regarding the Occurrence and Importance of Coccobacteria in Purulent Otorrhœa, and the Therapeutical Indications Furnished by their Presence. Part I.—Microscopical Appearances 220

——— Part II.—Pathology. Part III.—Therapeutics . . 342

MOOS, S. A Rare Case of Stab-Wound of the Left Half of the Skull 17

——— Remarks upon the Conclusions of Dr. Pollnow in his Paper "Upon the Diseases of the Ear in Railroad Employés" 292

——— On Epidemic Cerebro-Spinal Meningitis and the Subsequent Combined Disturbances of Hearing and Equilibrium. Reviewed by Oscar Wolf 371

MOOS S., and STEINBRÜGGE, H. Nerve Atrophy in the First Cochlear Convolution: its Physiological and Pathological Importance. (With plate i.) . . 1

——— Anatomo-Pathological Conditions in a Case of Malformation of the Right Ear . . 54

MOOS S., and STEINBRÜGGE H. On the Histological Changes in the Bony and Soft Parts of the Middle and Inner Ear in Caries of the Temporal Bone. (With plate iii, figs. 1–4, and a chart of the temperature on plate iv.) 121

——— Further Observations on the Histological Changes in the Labyrinth in Hemorrhagic Pachymeningitis (Hæmatoma Duræ Matris) 137

POLLAK, S. Necrosis and Elimination of almost the Whole Bony Apparatus of Hearing in an almost Complete Form; Recovery. (With four wood-cuts) 361

POLLNOW H. and SCHWABACH D. On Diseases of the Ear in Locomotive Engineers and Firemen 257

ROOSA, D. B. ST. JOHN. On the Value of Operations in which the Membrana Tympani is Incised 181

——— The Clinical Diagnosis of Acoustic Neuritis and of Atrophy of the Acoustic Nerve 210

ROSSI. E. D. On the Use of Resorcin in Aural Patients . 242

RUSHMORE, J. D. History of a Case of Hemorrhage from the Ear, probably due to a Fracture of the Skull 315

STEINBRÜGGE, H. A Case of Trepanation of the Mastoid Process; Death by Miliary Tuberculosis. (With temperature chart, plate ii.) 31

——— A Peculiar Condition of the Pavement Epithelium of the Endolymphatic Cavities in Man. (With plate iv, fig. 5.) 145

——— On the Topography of the Human Vestibule. With plate v.) 309

——— Report on the Progress of Otology. See Hartmann. . 75

STEINBRÜGGE, H., and MOOS, S. Anatomo-Pathological Conditions in a Case of Malformation of the Right Ear . . . 54

——— On the Histological Changes in the Bony and Soft Parts of the Middle and Inner Ear in Caries of the Temporal Bone. (With plate iii, figs. 1–4, and a chart of the temperature on plate iv.) 121

——— Further Observations on the Histological Changes in the Labyrinth in Hemorrhagic Pachymeningitis (Hæmatoma Duræ Matris) 137

WEBSTER, DAVID. Clinical Contributions to Otology. See Agnew 335

WILSON, F. M. Three Aural Conveniences 204

WOLF, OSCAR. On the Exfoliation of the Necrosed Small Bones of the Ear 234

——— Report on the Progress of Otology. See Hartmann . 75

YOUNG, H. B. On the Bad Effects of Alum Gargles upon the Teeth 115

INDEX OF SUBJECTS TO VOLUME X.*

Acoustic Neuritis, The Clinical Diagnosis of, and of Atrophy of the Acoustic Nerve. By D. B. St. John Roosa 210

Alum Gargles, On the Bad Effects of, upon the Teeth. By H. B. Young, M.D. 115

American Medical Association, Abstract of the Papers on Otology Read before the. By Swan M. Burnett 162

American Otological Literature, Quarterly Abstract of. By Swan M. Burnett . 70, 164, 374

American Otological Society, Report on the Meeting of the, in 1881. By Wesley M. Carpenter 266

Artificial Drum-Head, The Cotton Pellet as an. By H. Knapp . 60

Auricles, An Operation for Prominence of the. By Edward T. Ely. (With two wood-cuts.) . 97

Caries of the Temporal Bone, On the Histological Changes in the Bony and Soft Parts of the Middle and Inner Ear in. By S. Moos and H. Steinbrügge. (With plate iii, figs. 1–4, and a chart of the temperature on plate iv.) 121

Cerebro-Spinal Meningitis, S. Moos, on Epidemic, and the Subsequent Combined Disturbances of Hearing and Equilibrium. Reviewed by Oscar Wolf. 371

Chloroform, The Inhalation of, a Cause of Aural Disease. By Charles E. Hackley 202

Coccobacteria in Purulent Otorrhœa, Investigations Regarding the Occurrence and the Importance of, and the Therapeutical Indications Furnished by their Presence. Part I.—Microscopical Appearances. By B. Loewenberg 220

——— Part II. — Pathology. Part III.—Therapeutics . . 342

Cochlear Convolution, Nerve Atrophy in the First: its Physiological and Pathological Importance. By S. Moos and H. Steinbrügge. (With plate i.) . 1

Contributions, Minor Otological. By Dr. G. Brunner 244

Contributions, Clinical, to Otol-

*In the alphabetical arrangement of this index, the leading words have been taken, as far as possible, from the anatomy of the ear.

ogy. By C. R. Agnew and David Webster 335

Conveniences, Three Aural. By F. M. Wilson 204

Cotton Pellets, Application of, in Destruction of the Membrana Tympani; Two Cases. By. A. S. Core 117

Cotton Pellet, as an artificial Mt. By H. Knapp 60

Deafness, Binaural, probably due to Simultaneous Exudations into both Labyrinths. By C. R. Agnew and D. Webster . . 335

Drum Cavity, Experimental Investigations as to the Influence of the Nerves of the, upon the Vascularization and Secretion of its Mucous Membrane. By E. Berthold 184

Endolymphatic Cavities, A Peculiar Condition of the Pavement Epithelium of the, in Man. By H. Steinbrügge. (With plate iv, fig. 5.) 145

Epistaxis, Plugging of the Nares, and their Relations to Affections of the Organ of Hearing. By Arthur Hartmann . . . 149

Exostoses of the External Auditory Canal. By S. C. Ayres . . 327

Exostosis, On a Peculiar, in the Ear. By A. Hedinger . . 47

Hemorrhage, History of a Case of, from the Ear, probably due to a Fracture of the Skull. By J. D. Rushmore 315

International Medical Congress, Report on the Section for Diseases of the Ear at the, Held in London, 1881. By H. Knapp, 294

Italy, Special Report on the Contributions to Otology in, in 1880. By T. Bobone . . . 176

Labyrinth, Further Observations on the Histological Changes in the, in Hemorrhagic Pachymeningitis (Hæmatoma Duræ Matris). By S. Moos and H. Steinbrügge. 137

Locomotive Engineers and Firemen, On Diseases of the Ear in. By Dr. D. Schwabach and Dr. H. Pollnow 257

Malformation, Anatomo-Pathological Conditions in a Case of, of the Right Ear. By S. Moos and H. Steinbrügge 54

Mastoid Abscess, Pyæmia following a; Treated without Medicine; Recovery. By Edward T. Ely 42

Mastoid Process, a Case of Trepanation of the; Death by Miliary Tuberculosis. By H. Steinbrügge. (With temperature chart, plate ii.) 31

Mastoid, Trephining of, in a Case of Otitis Catarrhalis Chronica, with an Intact Membrana Tympani: Opening of the Lateral Sinus; Recovery by First Intention. By H. Knapp . . 365

Membrana Tympani, On the Value of Operations in which the, is Incised. By D. B. St. John Roosa 181

——— Wound of the, Produced by an oak stub. By C. R. Agnew and D. Webster . . . 338

——— Double Rupture of the, from a Blow. By C. R. Agnew and D. Webster 339

Middle Ear, A Case of Epithelioma of the. By Charles J. Kipp 206

Naso-Pharyngeal Region, Anatomical and Clinical Contributions to the Knowledge of the Diseases of the, and the Ear in Consumption. By Dr. Eugene Fränkel 100

Necrosis and Elimination of almost the whole Bony Apparatus of Hearing in an almost Complete Form; Recovery. By S. Pollak . . . 361

Otomyces Purpureus (Wreden) in the Human Ear. By Swan M. Burnett 319

Railroad Employés." Remarks

upon the Conclusions of Dr. Pollnow in his Paper "Upon the Diseases of the Ear in. By S. Moos 292

Report on the Progress of Otology in the second half of the Year 1880 . . . . . 75, 165

——— In the first half of the Year 1881 . . . . . 278, 377

I.—Normal and Pathological Anatomy of the Organ of Hearing. By H. Steinbrügge.

II.—Physiology of the Ear and Physiological Acoustics. By Oscar Wolf.

III.—Pathology and Therapeutics of the Ear. By A. Hartmann.

Resorcin, On the Use of, in Aural Patients. By E. D. Rossi 242

Rudimentary Auricle, Bilateral, with Absence of the External Auditory Canal. By H. Knapp 119

Small Bones of the Ear, On the Exfoliation of the Necrosed. By Oscar Wolf 234

Stab-Wound, A Rare Case of, on the Left Half of the Skull. By S. Moos 17

Test Words, Selection of, according to their Logographic Value. By Clarence J. Blake 289

Tympanum, Supposed Foreign Body in the. By C. R. Agnew and D. Webster 339

Vestibule, On the Topography of the Human. By H. Steinbrügge. (With plate v.) . . 309